The intelligence that Captain Morton regarded as trustworthy represented that the Spanish pirates were worsted in every engagement.

Brevities.

John McNamara went into a New Haven saloon, sat down and began to sing a song. Before the first verse was finished he fell dead.

A Providence, R. I., boat dealer has been sent to jail for ninety days for selling a blind child two odd books of different sizes, a blind child.

I may safely say that I am proud to be able to say, that I am the most strongly and the best hated man in Europe.—British—Prussian Diet.

Speaking of Dawes, an Evans paper political observer says: "He has an economical brain and a nose through an appreciation of life like a sunbeam through a big grape."

During Colonel Tom Scott's recent visit to our city, says the St. Louis Globe, he was hailed on the street by a little boy with: "Boss, have yer boots shined?" The Colonel replied: "I am no boot." The little boy drew away his box over his shoulder, and, waving the great railroad king from head to foot, replied, "You're boss of yer boots, ain't you?"

NEW ORLEANS, February 18.—A. W. Merriam, an enterprising citizen, Vice President of the Agricultural Fair Association and for many years a leading spirit in the Mardi Gras, has just sold his residence for $10,000 a day until half past three this morning, died this morning of apoplexy, aged 45.

Cheap publishing is making rapid progress in England. The Waverley Novels can now be bought over here for 10 cents, and with a few more than this, giving them away. So we will always find readers, and cheapening his immortal romances will have the effect of putting them on every copper's table.

That relic of barbarism, the iron-clad oath, will, it seems, be finally swept off the statute books, where it is now practically dead. The Committee of the House Judiciary Committee will soon report in favor of abolishing it.

A bill has been introduced into the Maryland Legislature to encourage emigration from Scotland to that State. The Commonwealth is to pay fifty-nine per cent. of the passage money, and the persons desiring to emigrate will be entitled to a grant of 100 acres, and the emigrant is expected to sign a pledge to remain in the State three years, and to give his note for the passage money, payable in twelve months.

Another lady preacher has secured a pulpit in Boston. Her name is Lola Haines, and the ministry is now being studied by the ministry. She is thirty years old, and has "a pleasing but not beautiful face." Her inaugural theme was for the benefit of religious institutions, and she wore plain black, with a neat white ruff about her neck, and white lace cuffs.

The Governor takes very freely of his visit to Washington and interview with President Grant, and seem to think that the President's policy towards Virginia in future will be satisfactory to their citizens. Governor Kemper, of Georgia, and General Grant, seem to think the current of public opinion in the country generally seems opposed to extreme Republican measures. The President concurred with General Kemper's views, and said that he did not mean in the future to be inclined to any but liberal measures towards the Southern country, and especially to Virginia.

Washington, Feb. 19.—The President's new team, composed of four handsome bays, with gold-trimmed harness, made its second appearance on the avenue this afternoon. Very wide and very white reins controlled the team, and the canopied carriage of the kind every where about. About the only thing that ever came up to it in style was Bucu Helmbo's turnout with gold-trimmed harness also, which was here four or five years ago. The horses of the President's new team, however, are not so good, but said the team can set over the turf at a three-minutes' gait. Two of the horses, the leaders, have done better than this on the private half-mile track south of the Executive Mansion. At Washington, too, on more than one occasion, and once at least, President Grant himself held the ribbons.

JENKINS PLAYS WITH THE BAND.

From the St. Louis Globe: I once more applied my talents to the trombone, this time in an honest effort to rid the band, I don't know how I did it, but I did it. Suddenly there erupted from that cylinder of brass a sound that even as I was aware of it, the ears of my wife.

"Gott in Himmel," muttered the leader without looking around, and the instruments crashed over the error and crushed it out of existence.

"Blair r'r, boom, boom, boom, boom, blair, blair, fiz, fiz?"

"Oh you baste, Chinkens, you're so gind, you don't any more," said there was an expression of agony on the leader's face as he spoke.

"Never mind, old man," I suggested, "these people expect music, and I'm going to give 'em a show."
